

Date: September 24, 2020
Time: 1:00pm – 2:30pm ET
Location: Zoom Online

1:00 – 1:05	Welcome & Agenda Review: Adam Proulx
1:05 – 1:20	Community Update: Mike Haines & Maddy Martin
1:20 – 1:40	Keynote: Deborah Kestin-Schildkraut , Global Program Director - Blockchain Marketing, IBM Topic: Blockchain in 20 Minutes or Less

Breakout Sessions

Breakout Room #1: Maturity Model

Maddy Martin, Head of Growth & Education, Smith.ai – Panel Moderator
Mike Haines, Director of Worldwide Partner Incentive Strategy, Microsoft – Panel Moderator

Join us for this working session where we will be building an emerging technology maturity model. We'll discuss, determine and map which technologies we believe fit into the tech life cycle – from introduction to decline.

1:40 – 2:15

Breakout Room #2: The Motivation Behind Emerging Technology

Seth Robinson, Senior Director, Technology Analysis, CompTIA – Panel Moderator
Dave Sobel, Host, Business of Tech, MSP Radio – Panel Moderator

Emerging technologies have become a key part of the discussion around modern digital organizations. Across the high-tech industry, the term “emerging technology” has become a catch-all descriptor for the futuristic advances that will drive the next wave of innovation, and there is a wealth of resources available for understanding the individual trends that fall under that broad umbrella. Join the conversation led by Seth Robinson and Dave Sobel and share your perspectives.

2:15 – 2:25	Wrap Up & Review of Breakout Rooms
2:25 – 2:30	Closing Remarks

Join the community and get the latest updates here.

Contact Adam Proulx at aproulx@comptia.org with any questions