

KEVIN TUNKS

Technology Advisor & Application Architect, Red Hat

Kevin is an award-winning information technology professional bringing innovative approaches to align next generation technologies to public sector mission-critical needs. With more than 20 years of experience he understands the intricate balance between customer desires and end-user goals, as well as what's required from a technical perspective to bring a concept to life.